MOTION FAILS

23. OPT-OUT SYSTEM

This JCR notes:

- (i) The current opt-out system
- (ii) An online opt-out system

This JCR further notes:

- (iii) That the JCR charities fund donation, Entz levy, Punts levy, and various other charges are coordinated using
 - (i)
- (iv) (i) is not very good. It puts people off expressing their

- (v) true wishes, is indiscreet, unreliable, and often doesn't happen at all
 - (ii) would be much better; in particular a system incorporating pages on the college intranet, termly reminder emails, security (using the Oxford SSO login), anonymity (from jesu##### usernames and handling by a minimal number of people) and an inability for any JCR member to view the choices of others.

This JCR therefore proposes:

- (vi) To request college to instate an online opt-out system as described in (v)

Proposed: Katie Millican
Seconded: Ross Evans

For: Majority
 Against: 7
 Abstentions: 9

MOTION PASSES

23. GAZA SCHOLARSHIP BATTELS SYSTEM

Minutes

of the 1st ordinary JCR meeting of Trinity Term 2011

Page 4 of 5

This JCR notes:

- i) The Gaza Scholarship
- ii) Opt Out
- iii) Members of the JCR
- iv) Forgetful
- v) Opt in
- vi) Opting in

This JCR further notes:

- vii) That i), which has been voted in by iii) is currently due to take the form of an ii) system
- viii) That many iii) are iv) and may be unaware of how to ii) and so may end up being charged for a fund they do not wish to pay
- ix) That next year's incoming freshers will not have been given a choice, and may feel intimidated about opting out
- x) That many iii) do wish to contribute to i), and will therefore v) when given the chance
- xi) That this would ensure that those who are vi) are only those iii) who do wish to contribute and therefore that i) truly does represent the views of iii)

It therefore proposes:

- xii) To implement an v) system for i) rather than an ii) system, so that College is enriched with the presence of many iii) vi), and no iii) end up paying for something they do not wish to contribute to

Proposed: Alina Blain
Seconded: Clarissa McMaster

SECRET BALLOT?

Secret Ballot now: 7
Secret Ballot with whole JCR/MCR later:
Public Ballot now: Majority

For: 53
Against: 103
Abstentions: 6

MOTION FAILS

Issues:

ALINA:
-Forgetfulness: Resentment on finding payments on battels you weren't aware of paying for.
Likely to target majority of neutral/indifferent JCR members to issue

-Opting-in: shows CONSCIOUS decision.
Opting-out would account more for forgetful people. Better for scholarship to have conscious, willing support behind it. Majority of JCR members seem to support cause, shouldn't realistically fail.

EMILY:
-Terms of initiative, including opt-out scheme explicitly detailed in the discussions of the original meeting

-Opt-in and opt-out systems have very different take up rates- research show schemes eg pensions get far lower take-ups in opt-in > opt-out systems

-Opt-out system agreed on in November not suffering potential problems - excluding unwilling freshers?
Eg Teddy Hall- document in freshers' packs, can decide whether to opt-in/opt-out

-Anonymous opting-out, especially in light of new motion for online opt-out system

-'Forgetfulness': reminders sent out

-Not binding agreement- can refund if paid mistakenly. Flexibility for opting-out, entire scheme won't collapse from a few opt-outs.

-About different nature of way people respond to opt-in and opt-out: weak standpoint when taken to Governing Body, proposal going in on terms agreed in the original motion (was strong with original motion vote, undermines credibility)

-MCR PRESIDENT:
-Opt-out: standard procedure for charities etc.
-Likely to fail due to uncertainties in numbers of JCR/MCR members getting involved within an opt-in system.
-MCR votes: 24 for, 4 against, 6 abstentions.
Majority- would be disappointing to have this voice and 6 months of work (since passing of original motion) undermined by possible implications of amendment

Minutes

of the 1st ordinary JCR meeting of Trinity Term 2011

OPEN FLOOR:

-Governing Body originally raised arguments about the opt-out system in regards to the JCR Fresher Meetings with the Welfare Officer; to try change this motion to opt-in send bad message, seems to retract equally applicable arguments made for changing opt-in -> opt-out for Welfare Meetings.

- £2.75 refundable, not huge contribution...

-Opt-in system much more effort- Opt-out assumes majority want it (as shown by original JCR motion). Adhering to JCR voice, making it easier.

-Emphasis on amount of work already put in should be irrelevant to implementation of actual payment system. Separate issue (though obviously it affects).

-MCR: 24/260 members passed. Majority, but apathetic nature adds to 'forgetfulness' argument. Especially evident in MCR. Opt-in would give much better representation of actual MCR voice. Many reminders etc sent, yet still > 10% votes. Not fully representative. Opt-in would show more accurate view. Governing body aware of general mood of apathy.

-Assuming scholarship still passes through with opt-in system- atmosphere for scholar himself? Awareness his stay relies on support of just a few people? Uncomfortable, unnecessary.

-Assumption of forgetfulness questions JCR ability to respond to simple procedures eg reminders.

-Governing Body etc aware of general apathy: opt-in system should take into account less people ARE likely to make the extra effort when general indifference has been shown before (eg generally low JCR Meeting attendance, specific MCR meeting example when original motion was passed)

-Issue of opt-in vs opt-out already voted on before regarding Freshers' welfare meeting provisions. Take away specificity of Gaza Scholarship, and issue has already been discussed by JCR with reflective consensus.

-Opt-out much more reflective of actual JCR view- takes extra effort. Really dealing with those on the fence > those for or against.

-Can 52% really warrant vast majority? Estimating 80% of students to opt-in to make scheme financially successful. Minimum student contribution NEEDED – sponsor funding dependent no guarantee. Can figures really correlate?

-Gaza Committee already found sponsor. Main issue not about money but about showing genuine support. Implications of motion – college needs to show it is a genuine consensus. Money link makes opt-in system the only real indicator of genuine support.

-Do we really get reminders about opting-out? Already very busy. Genuine apathy not accurate enough system for an issue with such political implications.

-Opt-out more suitable for JCR functions/systems, more likely to benefit wider body. POLITICAL ISSUE.

-Need funding to continue over longer period, new freshers etc not present in current debates, more removed from issue. Not about the £2.75

-FUNDAMENTAL ISSUE: ABOUT OPT-IN AND OPT-OUT. (Well done Harry.)

-Consistency of systems? Should make all JCR systems opt-in OR opt-out for equality? BUT punts/entz etc of completely different nature...
